

Investment Objective & Investment Selection

The Fund aims to provide investors with positive returns over the long term, and capital preservation over the medium term. This will be achieved through a clear, successful and unconstrained asset allocation model, which is implemented using a combination of traditional investments and derivatives. We believe the Fund should provide long-term returns in the region of 4.5% over and above the UK rate of inflation, with approximately half the volatility of global equity markets.

Current Views

The Fund rose 0.2% over the month of August, versus a 0.8% rise in the Targeted Absolute Return Sector. The underperformance was due to the rise in the level of sterling versus the dollar where the fund holds Gold in USD. Equity exposure in the fund also fell during the month as the S&P position was sold after record performance in the US index.

Over the course of the month the fund made further progress towards the long-term asset mix of the portfolio. One Defined Return investment was added, and the team also began to build up the long volatility portfolio which will protect the portfolio during periods of stress. The whole of the long volatility portfolio should be in place at the beginning of next month, with the equity portfolio to follow.

Going into the end of the year, there are several catalysts which are significant for all risk assets. The US election, Brexit, potential Japanese elections and the ongoing US/China trade relations all have key dates over the next few months. The long volatility portfolio will act to protect the fund against potential volatility events whilst the equity allocation will allow the fund to participate should the equity rally continue.
