MARKET & PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

October proved to be a month of two halves. Equities and credit markets started out positively supported by the global economic recovery, signs of vaccine progress, and expectations for a US fiscal deal. But this gave way to a range of worries - no fiscal deal appeared, concerns that a November Democratic win would stifle growth through higher corporate and income taxes and increased regulation, and fears for the recovery as COVID-19 infection rates rose, restrictions returned and national lockdowns were re-imposed in Germany and France. There were positive economic developments though. The US created 661,000 jobs in September, retail sales rebounded to pre-lockdown levels, and the housing market enjoyed heightened activity. The Chinese economy has now returned to its pre-COVID-19 size, growing 4.9% in the year to Q3. Central banks remained supportive. China eased reserve restrictions, the Bank of Canada announced it would enhance buying of long dated bonds (helping curb the rise in yields), the European Central Bank signalled an ease for December, and the Bank of England indicated a readiness to act.

The USD X-Share Class was -0.16% in October, consolidating the post-COVID-19 gains, and returning 1.9% year to date. US Treasury yields rose, with the 10-year nearly reaching 0.90%, and the curve steepened. Credit spreads narrowed for much of the month offsetting the rise in Treasury yields, which widened somewhat when Germany and France announced lockdowns. US earnings were encouraging and generally stronger than expected. Banks performed well in Q3, helped by buoyant financial markets and lower provisioning, and balance sheets strengthened. Many now plan to resume dividends once regulators allow it. This helped support bank subordinated debt: the CoCo index is. Corporates are pleasantly surprised too, with notable improvements in cash flow. Cash was deployed buying credit, such as high-grade Amazon and subordinated bank and corporate issues. The Fund took protection through put options on US Treasury futures. The strategy remains unchanged, maintaining extensive exposure to credit sectors key to global economic recovery.
